L.A. Log Reading

We read Pig in a Wig in our anthology and worked on understanding cause and effect. Guided reading centers are going smoothly. The children are doing a better job with noise level this week and more children are returning their bags. Please have your child read their book with you every night and keep a collection of their books in a safe place. Rereading these familiar books will boost reading skills! These books can be written on reading logs.

Writing

We spent the week on expository writing! After reading nonfiction books about specific community helpers, we each made an individual web about one particular helper. We thought about the tools used, clothing worn, place of work, people helped, and the education that person needed for their job. On Thursday, we each wrote an individual paragraph on a community helper!
