L.A. Log Reading

We read Seasons in our anthology, and worked on finding the main idea and support details to the topic. Please make sure your child reads their guided reading book to you when they bring it home and write it on their book log. The Ziploc bags need to come back the next day so we can add a new guided reading book to your child's collection at home. Please keep these books in a special spot and have your child read them again and again.

Writing

We spent the week free writing. On free writing days that students are able to choose what type of writing they want to participate in for the day. They have writing folders that they keep at school for items that they are working on and they file away writing items that they are finished with. Students are doing a great job at working independently during this time.
